

BYOM

(Bring Your Own Milk)

Take a Shot... of Milk, Obviously.

BYOM (Bring Your Own Milk)

Even when they can't join every late-night party, Boston College freshmen don't want to miss out on the fun. With no Greek life and fewer campus parties, there aren't as many opportunities to experience the classic college "pre-game" scene. Insomnia understands—after all, they were once college freshmen too. That's why we created an experience that lets them be part of the late-night ritual in a playful, safe way.

It starts with a classic milk carton—only there's no milk inside. Instead, it's filled with cookies and the first-ever Insomnia-branded shot glasses, designed to measure the perfect sip of milk for every bite. Each glass features playful taglines and fun markings, showing exactly how much milk to pour for maximum cookie enjoyment. This interactive keepsake brings the late-night cookie-and-milk ritual to life, letting Boston College freshmen share the fun, create memories, and take home a collectible piece of Insomnia Cookies.

Copy: Take a Shot... of Milk, Obviously.

BYOM (Bring Your Own Milk)

Generated with Gemini

Nutrition Facts

Serving Size: 1 Late-Night Cookie Ritual

Amount Per Serving
Calories of Fun	100% of a Friday Night
Sugar Rush	200% of Dorm Energy
Laughs per Sip	99% of Bonding

Ingredients: Warm cookies, late-night cravings, friends, group selfies, and one dash of mischief.

Warning: Contents may cause spontaneous fun, cookie crumbs, and stories you'll retell all semester. Not responsible for milk spills or overly competitive cookie debates.

BYOM (Bring Your Own Milk)

