

UNIVERSAL
ORLANDO
RESORT
BADGE OF (DIS)HONOR

MANON RIVOIRE
CC ZHANG

YOUR BADGE AWAITS

We're giving Silicon Valley the award it truly deserves:
"Most Overworked and Least Rewarded."

It's a satirical badge of (dis)honor, slipped onto windshields of parked cars at night—the ones still there long after everyone else has gone home. Congratulations on winning the race to burnout.

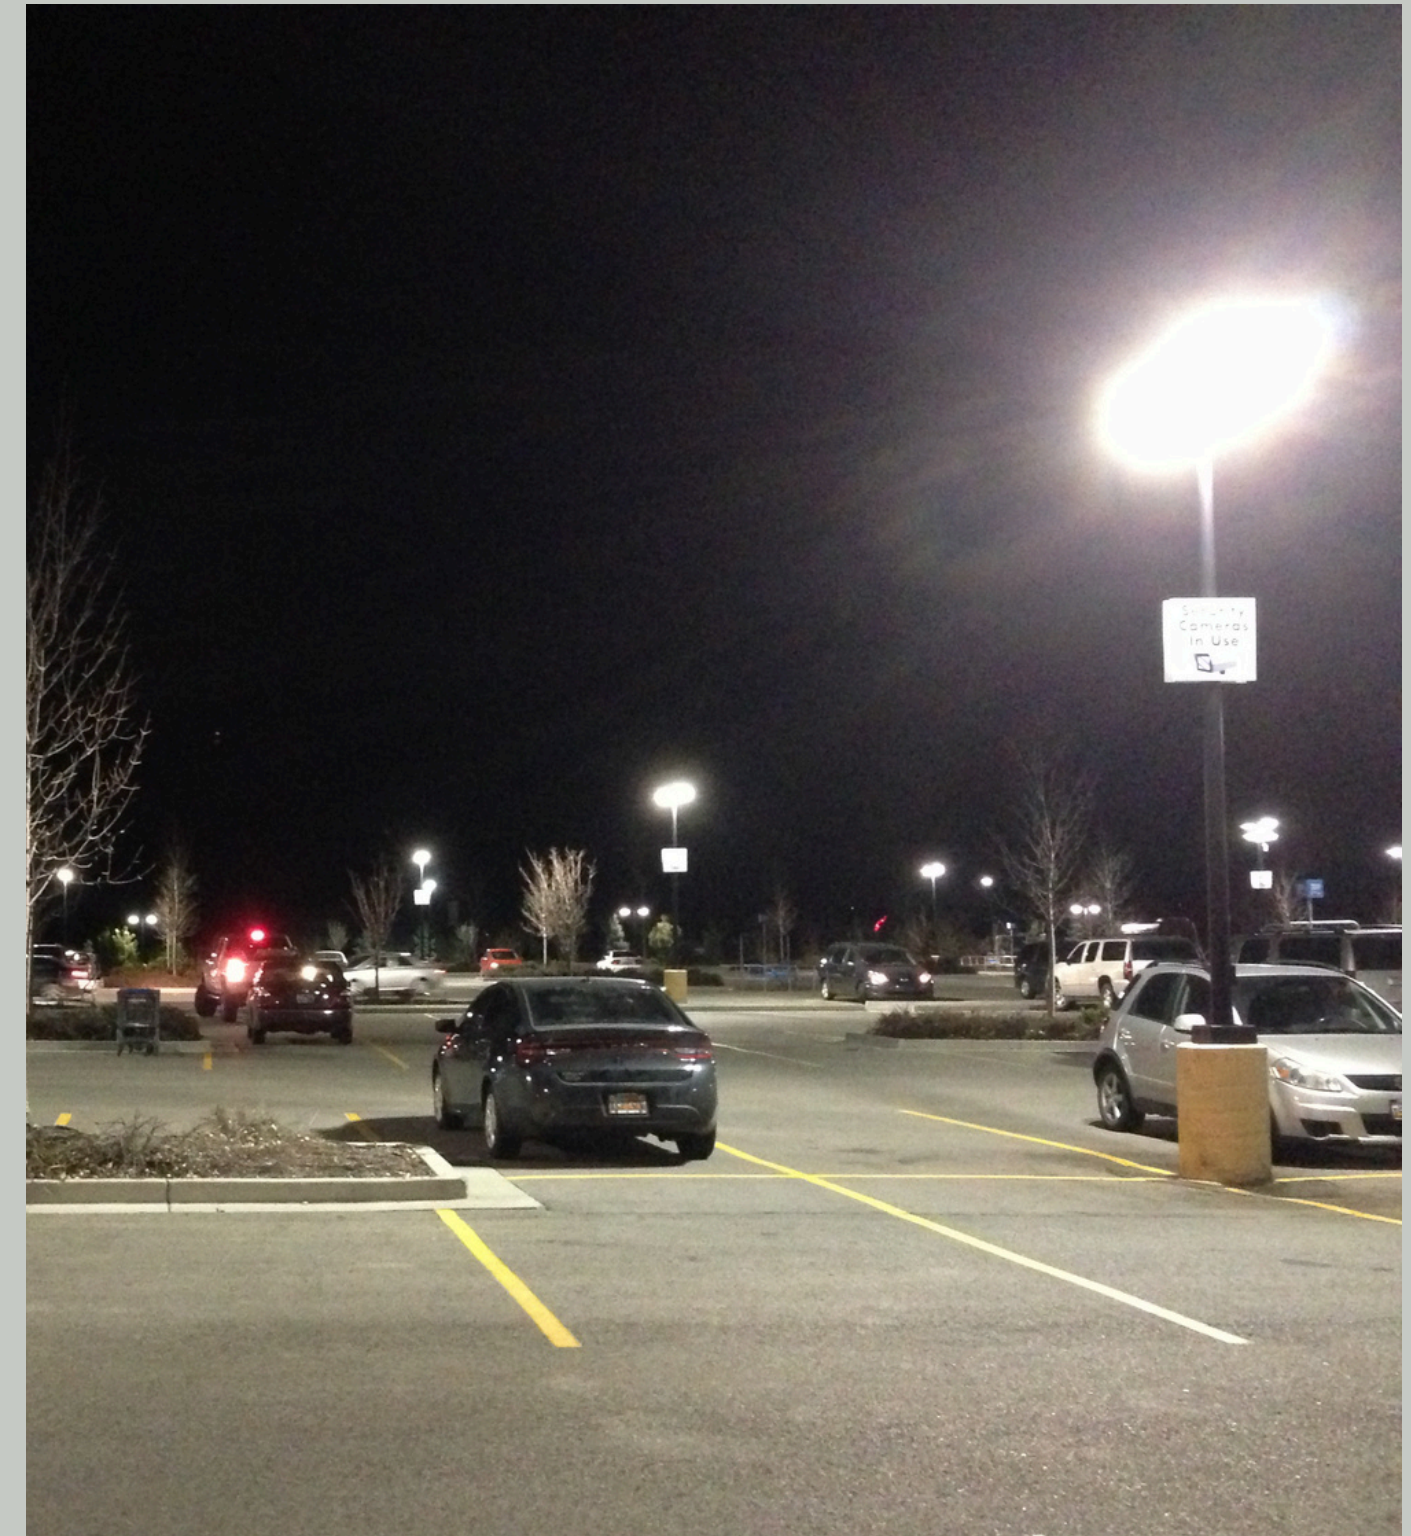

Because when your biggest accomplishment is unused PTO and a status that never sleeps, maybe it's time to log off—for real.

Have a life. Take back your vacation.

Functional response: distributes a physical, satirical badge to cars parked late in Silicon Valley, which includes a call to action (QR code on the back).

Emotional response: acknowledges and validates the intense, unhealthy work culture in a satirical, tongue-in-cheek manner. Encourage workers to rethink their work habits.

CERTIFICATES IN ACTION

The QR code takes you to their website. The badge is real and can be worn, or kept hidden in your office

IMPROVEMENTS

- Improved the concept statement
- Made the badge better
- completely redesigned the certificate