

WORDS WITH FRIENDS

JASMINE & CC

Words With Friends is more than a game — it's a bridge.

A way for memories, friendships,
and moments to travel across time.

Simple words become reminders of a shared past,
and invitations to reconnect.

REUNION: 90 TV

George (70s), sits quietly in his armchair. On the coffee table: an old photo of two young men — George & Henry, Summer 1972.

Beside it, an iPad lights up: Henry invited you to play Words With Friends.

George freezes... then taps ACCEPT. A small, almost disbelieving smile crosses his face.

Montage:

George waters a plant by the window. He notices it's his move. He plays: "CAMPING."

FLASHBACK: Young George and Henry, laughing on that same trip.

At night, he plays another word: "PUPPY."

FLASHBACK: The two young men walk a dog in Henry's yard.

These memories soften him. He starts going on walks again. He laughs with the neighbor's dog. He even shaves. Life returns in small steps.

CUT TO: George folding laundry, the iPad beside him. Henry plays the word "FRIEND."

When George is hesitating about the next move, a new private message notification from Henry slides in: "Haven't seen you in ages, old man." George looks at the photo, then decides: He's going to see Henry.

George stands at a front door of Henry's house. He knocks. A young girl (8) opens the door, an iPad in her hands Words With Friends on the screen.

GEORGE: This is... Henry's place, isn't it?

The girl looks up, smiling.

GIRL: You're here to see my grandpa?

From inside, a voice:

HENRY (O.S.): Is that George?

Henry steps into view. The two old friends look at each other, years collapsing into a single breath.

HENRY: Looks like it's my turn again.

GEORGE: This time... I'm not letting you win.

They both laugh, stepping forward. A quiet, heartfelt embrace. Then the camera drifts to the coffee table. Henry's iPad is open to their Words With Friends game. On the board, a single new word has appeared: "CONNECTION".

SUPER&LOGO: Words with Friends. Connection starts here.
